The third of a series of dances will be given by the Governor of Virginia and Mrs. Henry C. Stuart this evening at the mansion. All of these dancing parties, with which Governor and Mrs. have resumed their entertaining, following an extended visit of Mrs. Stuart in the North, have been very novel and lovely events. The decorations have been more elaborate than any used in Richmond for many seasons, and the whole mansion is literally abloom with delicate and rare flowers on each occasion, many being brought from great distances especially to adorn the great mantels and walls of the historic home. The last dance of the series takes place on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Littleton, of New York, will arrive in Richmond on April 15 to be the guest of Governor and Mrs. Stuart at the Executive Man-sion. The Governor and his wife will shortly issue invitations for a big re-ception, followed by dancing, to be given on April 17 in honor of Mr. and given on April 17 in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Littleton. This will be a brilliant event, and will be followed inter in the season by a series of fascinating garden parties. The lawn and grounds of the mansion will make an ideal setting for these spring fetes, and Richmond society is looking forward to them with the greatest interest and enthusiasm.

"Faults and Truths of the Religions of the World" was the subject of a paper read by C. Cotesworth Pinckney yesterday afternoon before a large audience at the Woman's Club. Mr. Pinckney took a very broad and comprehensive view of the various faiths and beliefs of the world, and touched with exceptional cleverness upon the theories and ideas set forth in each. In logical order, the many figures of note that have moved across the religious horizon of the ages were spoken of, and, in most instances, a great deal of interesting detail was recounted by the speaker.

GAYNOR-PAGE WEDDING WILL BE ON MOSBY TRAIL.

Will. BE ON MOSBY TRAIL.

Washington, March 30.—The parsonage of the Rev. Mr. Page, at Fairfax Courthouse, Va., where his daughter. Miss Betsy, and Norman J. Gaynor, of New York, will be married on April 16, is a historic building. It was in this house, fifty-one years ago, that Brigadder-General Stoughton, of the Union army, was surprised in the night by Mosby and his men and captured. One dark and rainy night about the middle of March, Mosby, with twenty-nine of his men, slipped in between the Union pickets and entered the village.

The little band rode to the courthouse green, where they divided, one party going to the tents to capture the Union soldiers, while the other, headed by Mosby himself, went on to the house in which Stoughton was sleeping.

Entering, Mosby awakened Stoughton by pulling off the bedclothing. As the general sat up, the Confederate leader, who had covered him with a pistol, asked:
"Tid you ever hear of Mosby?"
"Of course," growled Stoughton; "have you caught him?"
"No," said Mosby, "but Mosby has caught you."

This same house is intimately connected with the families of both the ambassador to Spain and the ambassador to Italy, Miss Page is a niece of Thomas Nelson Page, while Joseph Willard, ambassador to Spain, owes to the capture of Stoughton the fact of the marriage of his mother and Major Willard.

The Union officers, following the capture of Stoughton, accused Miss Antonia Ford of being accessory to Mosby's raid, and Major Willard, member of a wealthy family of Washington, was sent down to arrest her and bring her to the old Capitol prison. Eventually, as a result of that meeting, Major Willard and Miss Ford were married, Ambassador Joseph Willard was their only son.

FIRST SECTION OF ACTS

Work of General Assembly Begins to Come from Printer.

The first section of the Acts of the Assembly of 1914, containing the first twenty-three bills, to secure executive approval, came from the printer yesterday in pamphlet form, and will be followed by folio sections from day to day until the whole work of the recent session is available in official form. The first section contains the official copy of the enabling act, which was several times amended in both houses and by a committee of conference. It also contains the bill in relation to the tax on money, which was made an emergency act taking effect January 29; the act in reference to securing the return of the will of Martha Washington, the act in relation to safety appliances in factories and a number of bills approved in the earlier part of the session.

It is quite probable that Mr. Slemp will issue another statement from Washington, that under no circumstances will he be a candidate for reelection, within the next few weeks. This statement and the way in which it is received will have a great effect on the Republican convention in the Ninth District, to be held in July. It is conceded on all sides that with Mr. Slemp out of the race, the chances of the Democrats to land the district will be enormously increased, as all the Republicans of the district would be for Slemp, whereas they might scriously split if another candidate should be put forward.

Take Uniform Measurements To-Night.

Sergeant McMahon, U. S. A., detailed for service with the Virginia Volunteers, reported yesterday afternoon to Major Lawrence T. Price, of the Richmond Grays' Eattalion. First Infantry, for four week's duty. Se began his work last night with a noncommissioned officers' and selected privates' school, and will aid in the instruction of the companies on their drill nights, and conduct the school during his stay here.

Measurements for the new full dress uniforms of Confederate gray will be taken this week, beginning to-night. Company F will be measured to-night: Company R to-morrow: Company C Thursday, and Company A Friday. The uniforms are to be delivered within sixty days.

Major Price last night tested the rifle range in the new building. The test was in the nature of an experiment, as the butts, or backstops, were designed by Major Price, who has been highly commended for his invention. The new device worked perfectly, and experts who have been shown models predict that it will be adopted in all indoor ranges in the near future.

INQUEST UNNECESSARY

Body of Negro Girl Found in Henrico is identified by Mother and Sister. Finding no reason to believe that death had occurred from other than natural causes, Dr. J. Fulmer Bright vesterday afternoon decided that an inquest over the body of Channie Scatt, colored, which was found on the Methodist Orphange grounds early visterday morning, was unnecessary, and ordered the remains to be turned over to an undertaker for burial. The discovery of the body was made by Wyatt Carneal, who notified the county police. The identification was made by the girls mother who resides at 139 Pulliam Street and a sister, who lives at 707 North Ninth Street. The body bore no signs of mistreatment, and there was no signs of a struggle, or other suspicious circumstances.
